Women-Owned and Operated

Founded by Caroline Porsiel in 2022, House Of Applejay is a women-owned distillery with a deep passion for creating high-end, all-natural spirits. Caroline, an experienced distiller and liqueurist, brings a fresh, innovative approach to liqueur-making, balancing tradition with creativity to deliver a truly unique product line.

Rooted in Appalachian Heritage

Located in East Ellijay, Georgia, House Of Applejay draws inspiration from the rich cultural and natural landscape of the Southern Appalachian Mountains. The distillery proudly honors its Appalachian heritage, with each high-proof spirit named after a local mountain, and using pristine mountain water for crafting their exceptional liqueurs and vodkas. The region's untamed beauty and history are infused into every bottle.

Small-Batch Liqueurist Approach

Every product at House Of Applejay is made in small batches with a focus on purity, quality, and natural ingredients. Their liqueurist approach ensures that each spirit is crafted with care, using traditional methods combined with modern innovation. The result is a lineup of spirits that stand out for their distinct, all-natural flavor profiles.

Proudly American Made

House Of Applejay is committed to producing all of its liqueurs and vodkas in the United States. In an industry where most liqueurs are made abroad, this American-made approach not only supports local economies but also adheres to strict FDA regulations, ensuring the highest standards of quality and craftsmanship.
